

Join us for a screening of

AN AGE FOR JUSTICE:
CONFRONTING ELDER
ABUSE IN AMERICA

Tuesday, September 14, 2010 ~ 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.
The Center, South Kingstown Senior Services
25 St. Dominic Road, Wakefield, RI 02879
401-789-0268

Public Education Event on Elder Abuse, featuring the documentary “An Age for Justice: Confronting Elder Abuse in America” and a Panel of Community Resource Experts.

Corinne Russo, Director, Rhode Island Department of Elderly Affairs
Martha Crippen, Elder Abuse Investigator, Rhode Island Attorney General’s Office
Lt. Paul Horoho, Senior Citizen Police Advocate, South Kingstown Police Department
Linnea Tuttle, Elder Care Director, Tri-Town Community Action Agency
Lydia Giglietti, Social Case Worker, DEA Protective Services Unit
Karen Correia, Social Case Worker, DEA Protective Services Unit

An Age for Justice is a short documentary that brings you into the homes of courageous American elders, to hear their poignant and real stories about the abuse, neglect, and exploitation they have experienced. This intimate story reveals a hidden crisis harming older Americans in every community across the country. By uniting the voices of abused elders, family members and experts from across the nation, An Age for Justice brings the issue of elder abuse out of the shadows and asks us to imagine what we would do if someone we knew was a victim of elder abuse, and we were in a position to stop it.

After the documentary, the panel of community experts will discuss resources, service strategies, and the process of how elder abuse is reported and investigated in Rhode Island.

Free and open to the public.